56th EDITION OF THE CHI GENEVA

The Geneva International Horse Show, 8th-11th December 2016, will feature some 120 competitors and 400 horses. The CHI will celebrate its 90th birthday by staging, for the first time in its history, competitions in four disciplines, including the three Olympic ones.

Dressage will be the great talking point of this 56th edition, when it returns in style to Palexpo after a 15-year absence. CHI Geneva is now to be a fixture in the renowned World Dressage Masters tour and so will become the only event in Switzerland to host three competitions at 4-star level.

Show jumping will be top of the bill of course, with the climax being the Rolex Grand Prix, one of the three competitions in the Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping, comprising the Majors of Aachen, Calgary and Geneva. But first, the world's ten best riders will battle for the 16th Rolex IJRC Top 10 Final. Other prestigious world ranking competitions will be in the programme too, including the Credit Suisse Grand Prix, the Credit Suisse Geneva Classic, the Geneva Cup, and the Grande Chasse sponsored by Starling Hotel Geneva.

Palexpo will also once again be home to the Indoor Cross-country event presented by Rolex. This favourite of spectators and competitors alike will feature some of the best eventing pairings in the world. In addition, Driving will be in the line-up, as Geneva will once more host the only Swiss round of the FEI Driving World Cup™.
